

How to bring home the Sherwin-Williams 2023 Color of the Year

From embracing its inherent warmth to creating a space that feels grounding and uniquely yours, there are countless ways to try, paint and love the versatile Redend Point SW 9081 throughout your home. Sherwin-Williams offers several resources to make sure DIYers and designers alike can achieve the 2023 Color of the Year at home. For more images or information about these tools for both homeowners and professionals, reach out to Sherwin-Williams@clynch.com.

Try before you buy

Color chips

Redend Point SW 9081 has the power to transform any existing area into a space that feels cozy, warm and inviting. But feeling confident about choosing this specific hue might not be easy at first.

Color chips are a useful tool for DIYers to see a new paint color up close and personal in their space, and this hue is no exception. You can have a color chip delivered straight to your door so you can experience the color against each wall throughout your home.

Drawn to a specific collection? Online ordering and delivery make it easier than ever to explore paints found within specific offerings, such as Sherwin-Williams Emerald® Designer Edition™ and Living Well™ collections.

Redend Point SW 9081

Peel & stick paint samples

Sherwin-Williams peel & stick paint samples are another useful tool to help you try before you buy. Designed for a mess-free application on a larger surface area, these make it even easier to test out Redend Point SW 9081 in your own home thanks to easy repositioning.

Sherwin-Williams 8x8-inch peel & stick samples are available in the brand's most popular colors—including Redend Point SW 9081—and you can snag them for $3.50 per sample when you purchase four or more online. Instead of waiting for painted samples to dry, explore what bold colors look like on different walls or in varied lighting to ensure you feel confident about your vision from the get-go.

Redend Point SW 9081

Consult a color expert

As you prepare to make it official, book a Virtual Color Consultation with a color expert for advice and additional inspiration—especially if working with a professional interior designer isn't in your budget. Sherwin-Williams provides free virtual color consultations with experts designed to take the guesswork out of your painting process. These 30-minute meetings can be whatever you need them to be, from big-picture ideation to guidance on complementary colors for your walls, with experts who are known specifically for their color knowledge to help you see and identify prime opportunities to make the most of Redend Point SW 9081 in your home.

If you choose to consult a color expert before ordering samples of your own, they can even send color chip samples to your home post-consultation to help you bring your vision to life.

Wondering when you'll know if you've achieved beauty beyond yourself at home? It's all about feeling the peace and happiness that comes with finding the right fit for Redend Point SW 9081 within your space—and leveraging the right tools to bring that vision to life throughout the process. No matter where you decide to apply this fresh and grounding terracotta hue, it's important to trust yourself and your aesthetic to create a space you'll love. Enjoy the process and don't be afraid to use practical tools at your fingertips or seek conversations with experienced professionals to turn your big ideas into reality.

Redend Point SW 9081